Miss Jeanne Russell and her talented company appeared at the local opera house Wednesday night in that beautiful western drama "Sunday." Miss Russell and her leading man, Mr. Ray Brandon are well known here, having appeared in this town before. But Wednesday night performance surpassed anything ever seen in the town. Miss Russell played the Title role of "Sunday" and thoroughly captivated her audience, several times the pathos of the play brought tears to the eyes of many, but were soon banished away by Mr. Brandon's comedy, who played the part of Lively, he won the heart of his audience from his first entrance upon the stage. Mr. Craven, who was a resident of Raymond for some time deserves credit for his interpretation of Davie There was not a weak spot in the entire cast. Mr. Rose's Rube speciality was a big feature. Mr. Rose is a talented musician and his work was a treat. Miss Lamb who sang and danced between acts received a just amount of applause. Miss Russell has always had the reputation of giving the public the best there is in the amusement line, and it certainly strengthening that reputation by presenting such high class drama and being supported by such a strong cast of characters in her repertoire.

Last Friday evening an outbreak of town then happened a tragedy among some Indians, the result is that Little Shields, an Indian about 60 years old lies dead in Lethbridge from injuries he received in a drunken row. It seems that Little Shields and his son had just returned home from Lethbridge where they had purchased some whisky and during the evening they got into a row, in which the old man was struck on the head with a neck yoke by another Indian and in the morning was picked up unconscious by some friends. Saturday evening he was removed to Lethbridge but succumbed to his injuries on Tuesday morning. The mounted police visited town on Sunday, and captured the guilty parties. An inquest was held on Wednesday in Lethbridge and a charge of manslaughter was laid against them. It is puzzling the police just where the Indians received their whiskey and a strong endeavor will be made to locate the sellers. In Marghat last week a party was caught selling to Indians and the penalty was a fine of $150.00. There have been several Indians drunk around our town of late, and we understand that instructions have been handed out to have the Indians all removed back to the reserve.

The town has a Pure Spring Water Supply equal to the Best. Excellent Manufacturing Prospects. An $80,600 Waterworks System to be Installed. Centre of the Greatest Farming District in the WEST.

Lethbridge Wheat Takes First Prize Easily Beats the Rest at Dry Farming Congress

For the second time in succession, Alberta wheat from Lethbridge took first prize at a Dry Farming Congress and exposition, against the world. Last year first prize was captured at the congress at Cheyenne in Wyoming. Fergus County was second this year and Macleod, Alberta, third.

Lethbridge wheat far exceeded all competitors and was easily first. Wheat was grown on the farm of Gao Kerr, six miles east of Lethbridge.

Lethbridge exhibit is the talk of congress and the wheat displayed in such large quantity is a great advertisement.

Sec McNicol and the Lethbridge delegates are receiving congratulations.

The wheat was sold to a Billings seed man and could have been sold many times over.

Lethbridge has easily the best display in Billings.—Herald

Coyote Proof Sheep Fencing, Worth Reading

Some Departmental Advice

One of the most encouraging signs of a tendency towards more diversified methods in the agriculture of the Middle West, and more particularly in those sections where noxious weeds are becoming a serious menace to successful cereal growing, is the awakening interest in sheep breeding.

Reasons for this easily seen; unlike some other branches of live stock husbandry, there has for many years been little fluctuation in the prevailing high market values for mutton sheep. A flock of sheep calls for practically no increase of labor on the farm—a most important factor in these days. Sheep may be marketed at almost any season of the year, at good prices, in small numbers, less than car lot, and with little trouble. There is a good local demand for mutton in every town. Sheep and lambs can be killed and utilized on the farmer's own table more conveniently than any other class of fresh meat.

As farm scavengers, sheep surpass all other kinds of stock, and can be profitably utilized in cleaning dirty weed infested land, as they will eat with avidity almost every species of noxious weed with which our prairie lands are beset.

The few breeders of pure bred sheep who have persevered through all these years of little appreciation, now report greatly increased demand, and are taking courage, feeling that at last their favourite hobby is coming to its own.

The one thing that prevents hundreds of farmers in Manitoba, Eastern Saskatchewan and Northern Alberta from immediately establishing small breeding flocks, is the Coyote.

How can sheep be protected from the savages of this pestiferous sneak thief of the prairies is the deterring question.

Enquiry has recently been instituted by George H. Greig, Western Representative of the Live Stock Commissioner for the Dominion Government, as to how best such protection may be provided at reasonable expense.

Nearly all experienced sheep men agree that any of the ordinary woven wire fences now on the market, if properly erected, will suffice to keep sheep and coyotes out. The most satisfactory fence, when cost is considered, is a staple of the regular sheep fencing about 30 inches high, placed close to the grounds on posts 16½ to 25 feet apart, with one or two strands of barbed wire stretched above, at intervals of 6, 8 or 10 inches. Such a fence, if properly built, care being taken that no holes are left underneath the woven strip to allow the Coyotes to crawl under, makes a good and lasting fence for all classes of farm stock. Horses or cattle are seldom or ever injured by barbed wire when used as described, as long as it is kept tight.

The use of it above the woven wire prevents stock reaching over and bearing down the top of the woven fence, and, further, the barbed wire helps to save the woven fence from being crushed down in the severe winter storms and weights of crusty snow drifts, the barbed wire in most cases cutting its way through the drifts.

Good woven wire fencing, from 25 to 30 inches high, suitable for sheep, can be got at from 40 to 50 cents per rod, and on most farms there is plenty of old barbed wire to complete the job.

Permanent line fences built as above described help toward clean farming by preventing stock wandering about and indiscriminately scattering weed seeds; encourage seedling down to grasses and clovers, and make possible the pasturing of such land.

CHAPTER XII.—(Cont'd)

"Thanks. I am now satisfied. I shall study these specimens and make my notes—"

He stopped, for a broad grin spread itself over Josine's face.

"Oh, do not trouble to play the comedy out, monieur," she said.

"It is of no consequence to me what you want them for. You have them; I have the good money. We are quits—for the present. For the future—"

"What shall I do for you?"

In the drawing-room Floris and Lady Betty were soon surrounded; it was generally understood that Floris was to be the lady to be specially honored this autumn at Hallyfloe, and the worldlings were eager to pay their homage.

Another girl might have been rendered vain, might have been in danger of having her head turned, by the attention and adulation lavished upon her; but, as usual, Floris received and offered no notice.

And she turned and walked some steps behind her.

Floria heard him speak, and looking around saw, to her amazement, the thin figure of Josine standing close up against the glass wall.

She was very pale, and her black eyes shone with a half-frightened, half-defiant glare for a moment, then drooped, as she made a respectful courtesy.

"What are you doing here?" asked Lord Norman, anxiously.

"Let us give her her note," he said.

They went up to the little group, and Lady Blanche raised her eyes and smiled up at them, a half sleepy smile such as Cleopatra might have worn in as she lay on board her yacht surrounded by her slaves.

"I've something for you, Blanche," said Lord Norman.

She reached the bridge as the clock struck eleven, waited there some minutes, then slowly rolled into the dense shade of the trees. She had brought a book as an excuse for loitering, and with it opened her hand she sat down on a fallen tree and waited. There was no sign of Oscar Raymond, and she had seen no one since she started, excepting an old

"Yes; and I returned all presents. And what do you think he did?" "Something horrible, I'm sure." "He sent me half-dozen boxes of face powder, with note explaining that he thought I had taken as much as that home in his coat since he first knew me."

The Saskatchewan minister of agriculture has been scoring some of the farmers for holding their wheat. Undoubtedly many have obeyed the advice of the Grain Growers' Association to hold back for the present. The minister says that for a farmer to hold his wheat when he is in a position to do so is proper and legitimate, but for a man to hold his grain when obligations are pressing upon him, is simply to speculate on the other man's money, and is nothing short of dishonesty.

The wheat selling at a good price just now, and while we wish to see the farmer get as much as possible for his crop,
what guarantee has he that prices later on will be higher? The more the farmers get for the wheat the more they will have
with which to buy their requirements, and therefore the bigger
will be the retail merchants' sales. However, it seems to us that generally speaking it is not the best policy to speculate on the future.

Then, as Mr. Motherwell says,
the farmer that owes bills to the merchants should not handicap
the trade by preventing his crop
from going into the regular channels. Again, the principle of holding back the wheat to force prices higher is akin to the methods of combines that these same farmers are criticizing continually. We wish the farmers all success in breaking up any plans to squeeze down their income, but at the same time we must uphold fairness to all,
including consumer and merchant,
and when the price of wheat is remarkable it should be marketed.—Commercial.

We understand their contract calls for completion of structure next July but the contractors expect to finish by February.

How is your stock of printing for the holiday season? We are here to do your printing, give us a call and let us quote you prices.

The little daughter of Samuel King, who was injured a couple of weeks ago by a runaway team, is still confined to her home. She has suffered considerable pain, but we are glad to report that the doctors think that she is out of all danger and will be around again soon.

On Thursday evening Mrs. J. W. Evans entertained a number of invited guests in honor of Mr. John Green, who leaves next week for the mission field. A very enjoyable evening was spent.

What beautiful fall weather we are having now. This cannot be excelled anywhere, and the charm of the Sunny South is certainly applicable. One gentleman remarked that this weather could only be equalled in Italy this time of year. But then over there they have earthquakes every few days.

Good advertising brings results. Get busy for the holiday season. Advertise in the Register and obtain best results. Mr. Merchant if you are to receive a fair share of the bountiful harvest of 1909, be energetic and advertise.

The famous American Stewart and Buck Ranges and Heaters, the best on the market for sale at King Bros.

In this issue there appears an advertisement calling for applications for the civic positions of Secretary-Treasurer, Marshal and Water-Master, and Secy. and Marshal and Water Master combined. The contract must be signed for one year, and applications must be in the hands of Mayor Rivers, no later than Nov. 8th, at 12 o'clock, (noon).

Owing to such an increase in business, Messrs King Bros have been compelled to add more help to their efficient staff at their store. Miss Irene Smellie has taken a position on this staff as also has Mr. W. B. Johnston, formerly of our town, but who has been recently reading in Taber.

In the issue of the Lethbridge Herald of October 26th, contains an article descriptive of the town of Raymond. The write up is one given by the Herald's travelling correspondent and is a creditable publication. We believe the article will do our town a considerable amount of good, and many thanks is due the Herald management. Everybody in town should have a copy and besides send some to your friends. This is the best way to advertise your town. If you are desirous of purchasing copies of this valuable publication, they may be had at McDuffie Bros. drug store.

Messrs C. G. K. Nourse and W. C. Simons, were visitors to town on Sunday last. Accompanied by Mr. A. F. McDuffie and Mr. Kenney, they spent (Thanksgiving Day at the McIntyre Ranch in search of ducks, geese, etc. We understand they had very good luck.

Mr. S. Brown, of Salt Lake City, has taken a position with the Hain Co. in their store. Mr. Brown is thoroughly versed in the mercantile business and will be a good acquisition to the already efficient staff of the company. Mrs. Brown accompanied him to our town, and is well known to Raymond folks, being the daughter of Mr. C. W. Brewerton. Her many friends will be glad to see her back again.

"Babe" Adams who pitched three of the seven games of the seven games of the world's series for the Pittsburgh baseball club against the Detroit Tigers, winning the championship for his club, had quite an experience the other day. By actual count there was 436 young women who gathered around his home that wanted to kiss him. "Babe" made his getaway out the back of the house and escaped. "Cozy" what do you think of a bunch of admirers like that?

During the week we have received a communication from "Deloy's Comedians," saying that they are coming our way with a good singing and dancing show. Mr. Joe Kelsey, who was formerly with the Jeanne Russell Co., is with their company. His many Raymond friends will be glad to know that we are to be favored with another visit from this comedian. The dates have not been fixed yet, but it will be in the near future.

Do you want to buy two sections of land adjoining one another, about 3 miles from town? The biggest map of a life-time. Call on or write R. A. Gillies, real estate agent.

During the week I. Havakawa who runs the Japanese store, bought out the Confectionery business of H. A. Jones on Broadway, together with the property. He purposes renovating the premises, and will put in a complete line of confectionery; fruits, etc.

When is the road near the mill, the extension of Broadway, to be fixed so that it will be passable for traffic? This is a question that many people would like to know. The particular piece of road we refer to is a disgrace to any municipality. We understand, however, that the council has let the contract but as yet the work has not commenced. We would suggest that the committee in charge of this work get the matter attended to at once, and if the present accepted tenderer does not get started right away re-let the work to someone else. It is up to the council to see that this is attended to at once.

Last Saturday evening the Raymond Junior Band entertained at the Raymond Hotel in honor of Mr. Irvin Carter, who left this week for the mission field. Mr. Carter was a member of the organization and his associates regret his leaving very much. The banquet was one of the most successful given in town, and great credit is due Mr. and Mrs. Card, the genial hostesses of the hotel. After the many good things were partaken of, the band rendered a hearty vote of thanks to the management of the hotel. Mr. Carter left on Tuesday morning for Provo, Utah from where he will leave for the Central States in the course of a few weeks. We wish him every success.

The Jeanne Russell Co. come back to our town for a return engagement on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings. For list of plays see opera house ad, on page one. Considering the good clean productions we have been favored with during the past two evenings, we look for good support to the company upon their return engagement. Mr. Branson, the general manager of the company, has said that they will play here again on Nov. 8th, the receipts of which shall go to the Church High School. Everybody should turn out on this occasion. Let the house be packed to its utmost capacity.

The Raymond Teachers who attended the Convention in Lethbridge last week report a most enjoyable time. They returned Saturday morning. On Friday evening they, with the Teachers of Cardston, Magrath and Stirling also a few friends in Lethbridge were entertained at the elegant home of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Gordon. Mrs. Gordon's reputation as a hostess is well known and on this occasion she spared no effort to give pleasure to the honored company. A most delightful evening was spent with music and intellectual games. Dainty refreshments also were served. While in Lethbridge Miss Clark our most efficient fourth grade teacher was the guest of Mrs. R. J. Gordon.
